Inside Pictures 2017 | Sponsorship Opportunities

Our Network

With this brief document, we hope to succinctly inform you of the promotional opportunities we can provide any company which chooses to sponsor Inside Pictures.

All the opportunities listed below represent a means of addressing the Inside Pictures network, which comprises*:

- Our alumni: 231 film industry executives from all disciplines (development, production, post-production, special effects, sales, distribution, marketing, finance, legal and business affairs).
- Our speakers: 137 high-level industry leaders.
- Our funders and sponsors: Creative Europe; Creative Skillset; BFI (British Film Institute); Film Distributors Association; Ingenious Investments; Lee & Thompson LLP; National Film & TV School.

All figures correct as of March 2017*

Website

As a sponsor of Inside Pictures, we would list you on our Funders and Sponsors page on our website: www.inside-pictures.com. The entry would consist of your logo (hyperlinked to your company website) along with a paragraph about the company and a short description of what your contribution to the programme is.

For this entry, you would provide your own copy, which we would then post on our Funders & Sponsors page. Below is an example of one such posting, the current page can be viewed at: <http://www.inside-pictures.com/funders-sponsors/>

Newsletter

Each quarter, Inside Pictures issues a newsletter to its network. The newsletter acts as an update on the latest Inside Pictures news, including module coverage and event details. It also includes a round up Alumni News stories, detailing alumni film releases/announcements; awards / festival successes and career developments.

As a sponsor of the programme, we would offer you the opportunity to use this platform to share your own news in a 'News From Our Sponsors' section. We would be in contact a few weeks before the newsletter is due to go out to check if there is any news you would like to feature from your company and will happily feature a short piece of copy, an image and a hyperlink to a relevant article/news story/section on your website.

Below is an example of the newsletter from February 2017.

We are delighted to bring you the first Inside Pictures newsletter of 2017, as we launch another edition of the programme and congratulate our latest graduates. Read on for news about our call for applications and our upcoming party in Berlin, as well as our latest round-up of alumni stories.

Congratulations to our Class of 2016

Our Class of 2016 graduated in style last month, in the company of Inside Pictures alumni and industry. The participants received their certificates from Michael Kuhn – Chairman of Qwerty Films and an original founder of Inside Pictures. Kuhn praised their hard work and reinforced his strong support for Inside Pictures and the wealth of opportunities it offers to the participants. We are delighted to welcome them to our ever-growing alumni fold, and look forward to tracking their achievements. Read more

2017 Applications Now Open

Applications are now open for Inside Pictures 2017, so please spread the word far and wide across the industry! We always welcome recommendations; so if you know anyone who might make a suitable candidate, please send us their details. We are particularly interested to hear about applicants from Eastern European countries - as they may be eligible for special scholarships from our funders. The deadline for applications is 12 March 2017.

Sponsor Spotlight

This is a feature article in the manner of our Participant Profiles and Speaker Spotlights, published on our website, shared across our social media channels and featured in our quarterly newsletter. We would aim for the Sponsor Spotlight to be released before the first Inside Pictures module in June.

The piece could take any direction you wish – our suggestion would be to elaborate further on your company and its role in the industry, whilst discussing your support for the Inside Pictures programme. You would be free to chose the format of the piece: a question and answer interview with a member of your company in the same manner as our Speaker Spotlights (seen below), or a long form information piece on your company or profiling one of your executives.

The screenshot shows the 'INSIDE PICTURES' website with a navigation bar including 'About', 'Programme', 'Fees & Bursaries', 'Apply', 'News', 'Contact', and 'Resources'. The main content area features a speaker spotlight for Reno Antoniadis, Managing Partner at Lee & Thompson. The spotlight includes a portrait of Reno, a bio, and a Q&A section. The Q&A section contains three questions and answers, all in italics. A second image shows Reno speaking at a podium. To the right, there is a 'Tweets by @inside_pictures' section with two tweets: one from CreativeSkillsetFilm promoting a film business training programme, and one from Cate Kane recommending the programme. The website footer is not visible in the screenshot.

INSIDE PICTURES Spotlight: Reno Antoniadis About Programme Fees & Bursaries Apply News Contact Resources

Reno has, for many years, been acknowledged by the industry as one of the leading film and television production lawyers in the UK.

Reno joined Lee & Thompson in the early 1990s where he has built up the Film & Television practice from a near standing start to the market leader it is today. With 22 fee earners, the Group is acknowledged as being the largest team of lawyers in the UK working in the creative audio-visual sector.

Recognised for his extensive experience and ability to manage and close complex deals, Reno has represented producers on over 250 film projects in the last twenty five years. His role has increasingly seen him provide business affairs and commercial advice to producers. Over the last few years Reno has acted as an executive producer on a number of films which include Jonathan Glazer's acclaimed 'Under the Skin' and alongside Martin Scorsese, on Ben Wheatley's upcoming 'Free Fire'.

Reno Antoniadis – Managing Partner Lee & Thompson

Lee & Thompson is one of the most fervent supporters of Inside Pictures, providing office space to run the programme and hosting an annual alumni reunion. What is it about Inside Pictures that makes it attractive to you for such extensive support?

What sets inside pictures apart from other courses in the industry is the calibre and level at which the participants are already at. This in turn allows the course to teach participants the invaluable skills and knowledge needed to take careers to the next level.

It was the first time this year that you shared your experience and knowledge as a speaker. Can you tell us a little about that experience?

The participants were visibly receptive and asked some very sensible questions. It felt nice to know that I was being engaged.

As a Managing Partner of many years at Lee & Thompson you would have seen the worst and best of people during a financial closing. Do you have any top tips how to prepare and make this process less painful?

It is essential to have the confidence to know that a deal will close and that every obstacle can be overcome. Most of all a sense of humour is necessary!

Is there a single thing, real or imaginary, which would improve your work life exponentially?

Press Releases

Inside Pictures issues a press release at key stages of the programme, notably:

- The annual launch of the current edition of the course (February)
- When we announce the line up for the current edition of the course (early April).

We would mention your sponsorship in our press releases, acknowledging your support. We would check this with you before its release.

Events

Inside Pictures runs a number of networking events through the year, the purpose of which is to provide our alumni with an opportunity to meet, and network our current participants with the industry. Executives from your company would be invited to attend each of these. As they can be quite intimate, we would suggest that up to three executives attend. The events in question are listed below.

Inside Pictures 2017-18 Alumni Calendar
19 May 2017		Meet the Alumni Reception in Cannes
14 June 2017		Module 1 Networking Drinks in London (Soho)
28 September 2017		Module 2 Networking Drinks in LA (Beverly Hills)
11 January 2018		Graduate Reception in London

We are always looking for new ways and opportunities for our alumni network to meet. Previous sponsors have hosted alumni events at their premises as a means of promoting their firm. We would open to discussing this if it were of interest to you.
